

The internal and external reasons for the failure of the Doha-Round and the role of the industrial and developing countries

By Rinke Kloppe

GRIN Verlag Dez 2009, 2009. Taschenbuch. Book Condition: Neu. 210x144x13 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject Politics - International Politics - Topic: European Union, grade: 2,0, Friedrich-Alexander University Erlangen-Nuremberg, course: The external commercial policies of the European Union, language: English, abstract: During the fourth Ministerial Conference of the World Trade Organization in Doha, Qatar, from November 9th to 14th 2001, the new round of multilateral trade talks became known as the Doha Round. Against the background of the terrorist attacks in the USA that had happened two months before in September, a strong message of stability and prosperity to the economical development and the wish for a greater political cohesion were communicated and were seen to become resolved in multilateral trade negotiations. The principle aim of this ministerial-level meeting was to lower trade barriers globally, which allows countries to increase trade worldwide by a more efficient exchange of goods among countries and to establish a more stable and certain foundation for today's dynamic global marketplace in order to avoid a repetition of terrorist attacks. However, the Doha Round failed and even following ministerial...

READ ONLINE
[5.44 MB]

Reviews

An exceptional pdf and also the typeface applied was intriguing to read through. It is definitely simplified but excitement in the 50 % in the ebook. I discovered this ebook from my dad and i recommended this pdf to find out.

-- Jarod Ward

Complete information for publication enthusiasts. It is really basic but shocks inside the fifty percent of your book. I am just delighted to let you know that this is basically the finest book i have read through in my individual lifestyle and might be the best pdf for actually.

-- Elena Runolfsdottir Sr.