Not illustrated. 1918 Excerpt: . on it began to be a bit more hilarious among the men. It seems that the crowd at the door had access to liquor imported for the occasion. We withdrew but we heard later that there was an ugly fight and the next day the sheriff came and heavily fined the combatants. Since then I am glad to say, New Mexico has gone dry. The fact that impressed me most was the crowd of young people there. Certainly forty couples were on the floor. It all implied a big problem. Dances are very frequent here, they seem to be the only social occasion when young men and women can meet. I have longed for a stereopticon or something that would attract these people and be a means of enlightenment as well as pleasure. The girls leave school early, and their realm of thought is so circumscribed. Twice we have joined the funeral procession of a little baby. The wee body was laid in a grocery box, fitted up as best they could, the big advertising letters showed through the thin cloth that covered it. The baby's face was exposed. Small girls took turns in carrying the poor little casket to the church. Unexpectedly last week the Padre came to town for the first time since my arrival. We did not know how such an event might affect our work. I attended the Sunday morning service. A good audience was present and the sermon part...
