Not illustrated. 1866 Excerpt: .similar changes of position: if the result be satisfactory, the metals may be considered as well placed, and well adapted for each other. To try whether the large speculum partake of the parabolic form, let the aperture be partially covered, first at the central part, and then round the circumference by tin, pasteboard, or stiff paper; and if on trial the same adjustment for distinct vision be good in both these cases, and also when the speculum is all exposed, the figure may be considered good. If these effect be not produced, the instrument will be incompetent to perform several of the nicer observations in astronomy. When a mistiness appears in the field, it is a proof that the aberrations are not corrected, and that the figure of at least one of the specula is not perfect. If a telescope is not good with its full...
