Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Present Political Questions an Analytical Reference Syllabus Apparently society is urgently demanding from the teacher, and especially from the college teacher, a more concrete, a more intimate handling of the actual problems which concern it in the living present. This is notably true of political questions. Is there any sound reason why such topics should not be selected for academic study? Under competent guidance, does not their discussion afford the very best mental discipline? They have two great advantages over like subjects which are remote in time and place: interest and utility. Fortunately the wise teacher has freed himself from the twin fallacies that a subject is disciplinary in proportion as it is distasteful; and that a university is a place where nothing useful is taught. Has not the new psychology firmly established that interest is the essential condition of the swiftest, most luxuriant mental growth? By all means let us have knowledge for its own sake; but is there any real knowledge which is not informed, vitalized by a perception of its power? of...
